COMMENT OF THE DAY Disprove Figures

MacArthur's opinions Wabout Hongkong's trade with Communist China which he advanced before the Joint Congressional Investigating Committee last week, normally, would be unimportant. His generalised treatment of what is supposed to be a key point in the issues between Western Democracy and Communist aggression in the Far East is sufficient to condemn the testimony as merely an effort to bolster up MacArthur's theme that his views on how the military and political conflict in Korea should be resolved are right, and all others wrong. As we have observed, ordinarily his views could be dismissed with some tolerance. But it happens that General MacArthur is receiving a world-wide at this time: that a lot of people are hanging on his words with bated breath and are in an emotional and mental state to accept everything he has to say as being sacrosanct and irrefutable. Herein lies the danger, Gullibility begets loss of perspective and creates distortion. Thus, when General MacArthur talks about the "constant flow of strategic materials. from Hongkong to Communist China" he strives to build up (and in the US apparently with some success) the vision of this Colony freely supplying Red China with most of the materials essential to her current war effort. This is ludicrous: firstly because Hongkong has itself been cut off from the main source of most strategic materials in consequence of the United States embargo; secondly because we are operating our own re-export restrictions. Moreover they are effective, as can quickly be seen by turning from the generalised to the particular. We quote: the following comparative figures to show how Hongkong is restricting its commodities which can be classified as strategic. In December last we exported to China 91,000 piculs of scrap iron and steel; in March of this year the total was 76,000 piculs. Exports of unrefined copper and scrap in December were 395 piculs, and in March 68 piculs. Copper and alloys fell from 4,546 piculs in December to 616 piculs two months ago. Cement decreased from 144,000 piculs to 16,000; caustic soda from 10,000 piculs to 1,700; rubber tyres from 12,000 to 7,600 and gunny bags from 1,200,000 pieces to 400,000. This demonstrates that General MacArthur's "constant flow" has, in fact, become a mere trickle which could not begin to help the Communists' war effort. Unquestionably attempts are being made to develop a smuggling trade in restricted and prohibited commodities and materials, but there have been sufficient apprehensions and confiscations to justify the claim that the vigilance of the Hongkong authorities is far more effective than the smugglers' operations. We do not pretend that our system is immaculate, any more than can the _Japanese,_ under_ SCAP authority, claim that their trading with the China mainland is beyond reproach. But we are making a genuine and effective contribution towards depriving the Chinese Communists of substantial quantities of strategic materials by restrictions and prohibitions voluntarily imposed, and for this we deserve, not misrepresentation by ill-informed chatterers, but appreciation by responsible public opinion—especially in the United States. General MacArthur is hardly the person to guide and mould that opinion regarding trading, or any other relations, between Hongkong and the Chinese Communists. dealings with the China mainland in

Big Squeeze Comes From Weird Hands

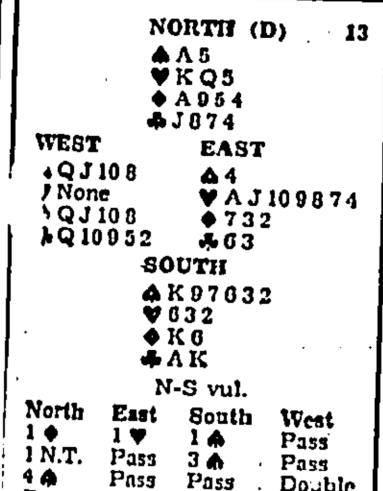

BY OSWALD JACOBY

MEIRD hands have a way of happening to my friend Alfred Shelnwold, perhaps in the same way that accidents always seem to happen to a certain type of person. The hand shown to-day is unusual because one of the opponents found himself squeezed in three suits, one of which was the trump suit. To make it even stranger, the squezze occurred on a card led by that poor opponent's partner.

West opened the queen of diamonds, and Shelnwold (playing the South hand) won with the king. To provide against a bad trump break declarer immediately cashed his two top clubs before leading a trump top clubs before leading a trump to dummy's ace.

BEAT SOUTH CRUCIAL "B" DIVISION MATCH AT TAI HANG

By "ARGONAUT"

In an exemplary exhibition of sportsmanship and tennis prowess, Chinese Recreation Club "1" avenged their defeat at the hands of South China in last year's final by defeating the Champions by $6\frac{1}{2}$ sets to $2\frac{1}{2}$ in yesterday's crucial Men's "B" Division match at Tai Hang.

The Tai Hang club fielded a hundred percent "B" team and were suitably rewarded not only with a tennis victory but a triumph in sportsmanship.

Mainly responsible for CRC's win were the youthful combination of Chung Yue-to, the Colony Schoolboys' Singles runner-up and Choy Tin-kin. Playing headsup aggressive tennis, featured by forceful volleys and deadly overhead smashes, the youngsters swept through all their three sets in convincing style.

SOVIET RUSSIA MAY NOW TAKE PART IN OLYMPIC

Vienna, May 7. Soviet Russia was today admitted to the International Olympic Committee at the Committee's Congress here. Thirty-one members of the IOC voted in favour of Soviet Russia's application for membership, it was officially announced tonight. There were three abstentions. The nations abstein-

M. Otto Meyer, the IOC Secretary-General, said that M. Adrianov had given every assurance required by the IOC, including one that Soviet athletes would not be given cash awards in future.

The Soviet member thanked the IOC for admitting his country to membership,

STANLEY MATTHEWS YOU WHAT IT FEELS LIKE WAITING FOR

Stanley Matthews, who has represented England 63 times in international matches, has yet to win a Cup-winner's medal. When Blackpool lost this year's final to Newcastle United by two goals to nil at Wembley, it was Stanley's second miss in three years.

The medal was the one that Matthews wanted most of all to round out one of the most brilliant careers in English League football. Of the seven weeks before the final, he says, "The only thing I hated was the waiting."

Comments of that kind were stock market today but little ill received by his former volume accompanied the decline. A recovery move which rassingly heard by the Conser- got under way late in the session did not have enough, zip to lift the market out of the losing side of the ledger. Radio television and mail or-

The curb market followed the weakening tendencies, but most of the changes were fractional. On the bond market, corporate lines tended lower by small margins. U.S. Government bonds hold steady. Trading was light.
